

A PLACE TO CONNECT

At Dyken Pond Environmental Education Center, there are many ways to practice environmental stewardship.

You could lend a hand with our naturalist programs for all ages that run year-round.

You could also help out in our fundraising campaigns.

The Headwaters of the Poestenkill

From working on trails, to networking with community partners, joining the Friends of the Dyken Pond Center is a great way to practice the principles of land preservation, place-based education and establishing greater connections to our natural world.

“In every walk with nature one receives far more than he seeks.”

~ John Muir

ECOLOGICAL LITERACY

Tracking with Alcott Smith

With your support the Center can offer:

- One week nature day camp for ages 6-14
- Service learning work experiences for ages 14-18
- Natural science programs that follow New York State science standards for schools, and outdoor education for civic associations.

NATURE RECREATION

Interested in Land Preservation?

The Friends work to secure and protect the land in the vicinity of the Center for education and low-impact recreation.
