

Citizen Scientist's Names: Austin Bradway & Carley Salerno

Photo of the Bird:

Name of Bird: Spotted Sandpiper

Latin Name: Actitis Macularius

Habitat: They live in aquatic places in the USA, Europe, Turkey, and Puerto Rico.

Interesting Facts:

- The Spotted Sandpiper bobs their rear ends up and down.
- When the spotted sandpiper visits Puerto Rico, its spots vanish.
- They are eighteen to twenty centimeters in length.
- The female sandpiper weighs 43-50 grams and the male weighs 34-43 grams.
- This bird is one of the few bird species where the male and female sex roles are reversed.